Bermuda Security Group today donated to Age Concern Bermuda, 10 GE CareGard Personal Emergency Response Systems with free lifetime monitoring. These systems are specially designed for seniors or people with medical needs and who cannot have family or friends around 24 hours a day. Bermuda Security Group will install and monitor the units from their local monitoring station that will provide seniors with the same round-the-clock assurance that many of Bermuda's largest companies currently have.

Doug Hines, Sales & Marketing Manager of Bermuda Security Group commented "Bermuda Security Group wanted to do something concrete for seniors, those who have built this country, and we believe this donation makes an important contribution to their personal security. We selected Age Concern as the vehicle for getting this to seniors because we value their work in the community."

Once the units are fitted, seniors will be supplied with a water-resistant call button to be worn around the neck or on the wrist. With the advanced technology used in this device, reception to the unit is even possible immediately outside the home. As long as there is a working phone line the system can be fitted.

The donation is just one stage of the new residential security plans for Bermuda Security Group, offering Bermudians protection for their homes and their families.

Over the next few months they will be moving forward with other aspects of residential security.

Claudette Fleming, Executive Director expressed her excitement for the donation as it is consistent with Age Concern's mission to get as many stakeholders as possible involved in providing real solutions in helping seniors to maintain the safest and highest quality of life possible.

Seniors or families interested in this product are asked to contact Age Concern Bermuda for further information.

Bermuda Security Group has been watching over Bermuda since 1969, with the merging of Island Wide Security Services and Bermuda Central Station under their new name.
